

A Love for Asian Art

"Thoughts" Price $300.00

My art is inspired by the Asian arts and culture. I like to describe my pieces as “old Asian art meets new Asian art, meets me”. I love the colors and subject matter that are derived from this culture. I started out painting close-up flower pieces. I moved on to painting portraits of beautiful Asian women because of their perfect combination of porcelain skin, dark eyes and dark hair. For the large scale portraits, I concentrated on portraying sexuality combined with real emotion to portray that perfect faces doesn't mean a perfect life. For this collection, I tried to concentrate on symbols and things that have meanings in the Asian culture. I started getting back to my love of painting flowers. I also started painting koi and I was trying a lot of different styles and themes.

As a child, Sara had an interest in art but never imagined that it would lead to a passion that has become a career. After taking her first watercolor painting class in college, she realized she had a true talent for painting and continued on to take oil painting classes and develop her artistry. Sara graduated with a Bachelor in Studio Art and has worked with a variety of media. Her concentration is oil painting but she also enjoys painting with watercolors. Now a Floridian, Sara grew up in Michigan and has had several solo and group exhibits there. She has been recognized for her outstanding pieces including a “Best of Show,” in the Michigan House of Representatives & Senate exhibition. Sara has been commissioned and sold paintings to restaurants, offices and private citizens.
