Vic Delnore

Encouraged by his artist mother, Vic Delnore took his initial art training in composition and perspective in The Hague, The Netherlands, followed by instruction in story illustration, pen-and-ink graphics at RPI, figure drawing and calligraphy at MIT/ Harvard and ODU, and in water media under local Lee County (Florida) and Tidewater (Virginia) artist/instructors. He has also studied under several nationally known watercolorists.

Vic has exhibited in galleries in Fort Myers, Cape Cod, Outer Banks (NC), and Hampton Roads (VA) for over forty years. His paintings and drawings have won numerous prizes over the years.

He is a regular contributor of art to benefit relief organizations, local hospitals, and other causes.

Vic's aim is to create works that share a lifelong association with the sea, the sky, intellectual pursuits, and travel to distant lands.

Holding a PhD in geophysics, Vic recently retired from a career in the natural sciences. He was on the faculty of Rutgers University and has been employed by the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, NASA Langley Research Center, the U S Coast & Geodetic Survey, NOAA, and the U S Naval Reserve (retiring in 2003 as a Captain), and was a volunteer and exhibitor at the Riverview Gallery in Portsmouth, Virginia. At present he is privileged to be a volunteer and exhibitor at the Arts for ACT Gallery in Fort Myers.

Holding membership in the Lee County Alliance for the Arts, the Tidewater Art Association, the Chesapeake Bay Watercolorists, the Virginia Watercolor Society, and the Chesapeake Bay Artists' Association, Vic recently moved with his wife Candie from Norfolk, Virginia, to Fort Myers. They have five children and a growing number of grandchildren. His other interests include music, foreign languages, boating, cycling, and travel.
